Urban Faber Baffles Hugmen, Allowing Only Four Safeties

Spitballer Turns Back Shifted New York Batting Order With Ease; Schang, Ruth and Ward Divide Locals' Hits; Hooper and Yaryan Get Homers

A change in the Yankee batting order yesterday to make better hitting produced, it so happened, less hitting than usual. That, however, was no reflection on the judgment of Manager Huggins. Red Faber was unbeatable-nobody could have won against his pitching yesterday-and the White Sox shut out the Yankees, 4 to 0.

Hard and Triumph Over the Reds, 54

CINCINNATI, July 16 .- The Boston defeated the Cincinnati Reds in a hard fought game, 5 to 4. MacQuillan was knocked out of the box in the fifth and Oeschger in the seventh, but Marquard Oeschger in the seventh, but marquard was able to stop the hitting.

Kopf played a brilliant game at second base, cutting off three runs at the plate by fast assests. The Braves made four double plays, all at critical

"I don't mind losing a game like

"I don't mind losing a game like that," said Huggins in the cool of the clubhouse shower. "Faber was invincible. It's losing games like Saturday's, when good baseball goes against all the tough breaks, that hurts."

Huggins moved Pipp, a good bunter, up to second place, put Wally Schang in at fifth and dropped Mike McNally to eighth place. It was all one to Faber. Urban the Red mowed them down, no matter where they hatted. The best spitball pitcher in the game—a dozen Shockers not excluded—had about all there is. His curve was a deadly auxiliary to his spitball and fast one. Many strikes were called on the home batters, fooling them outright, and Faber kept getting the edge on the batters by putting the first one over.

Ruth Reaches Third Base

Ruth Reaches Third Base Ruth Reaches Third Base Schang, in his new niche, made two of the four hits off the masterful Red.
Ruth made one and Ward one. Ruth was the only one to reach third base.
He took lodgings there a while when Ward burned the ground at Mulligan's feet with a hard single, which the official scorer charged as an error, but checked out for left field when Scott maced into a double play.

Joe Bush, who doesn't lose often, was outdone by Faber, but pitched well all

Jee Bush, who doesn't lose often, was outdone by Faber, but pitched well all the same. The White Sox hit in groups every time they hit at all. Af their seven off Bush—two home runsfive were useful. Garyan, Schali's strapping understudy and with a wallop in his wood, knocked the ball to the middle strip of the grandstand in the third inning and jogged around as it bounded back to Meusel. The applause was desultory, as the moment was not exciting and home runs are so common that unless there's a dramatic touch to them they have lost their savor.

Harry Hooper and Johnny Mostil with hits in the fourth, Falk with a sacrifice to Witt far out in the suburbs and Sheehy with a hit added two runs and gave Faber a lead as unscalable as Mount Everest, the way he was pitching. Hooper shot a clean one into the lower grandstand in the sixth inning, and there was an end of the scoring. The White Sox made no hits in the last three innings, and Youngster Murray did a tidy job of pitching for the Yankees in the ninth.

Fine Work by Infielders

Pine Work by Infielders

Nothing tense or gripping about this game, but dexterously played and by no means dull. Much natty work and celerity were shown by the experts who roam the rim of the diamond. Their playing, except a fumble by Collins, was uniformly good. The defense of Pipp, Ward, Scott and McNally was impregnable. That didn't produce runs, but when Faber is at his best what are you going to do? You're not, as the Yanks can tell you, going to say it with music of base hits. Swimming Stars to Race

Eddie Collins had two fumbles in the first inning, which isn't like Eddie at thousand entrants, including five girl all. He made a thorough job of the first one, but recovered the second first one, but recovered the second and tossed out Pipp.

Ruth also rapped two sky high, Johnson catching both. Muffs on some of the high Ruth hits are pardonable, particularly if there's a high sky, and in the writer's opinion should be scored hits and not errors.

Robins Defeat Run in Eighth Breaks Up Duel Between Barnes and Sherdel

ST. LOUIS, July 16 .- Only the frailest sort of a finger hold fasters the Giants to first place. The Cardinals kicked most of the props from The Robins steamed into Brooklyn under the McGrawmen to-day and now only the margin of slightly more from Pittsburgh early yesterday morn- than half a game separates the two teams. By the close score of 1 to 6 the Giants again went down to defeat before the larruping legion, while rates, and no troupe of singers ever needed to larrup only seven hits off Jess Barnes to get the decision terday. Apparently there is inspiration in playing before a home crowd, for the Robins played as of old—they overcame an early lead and then won out with a four-run rally in the eighth. After the game both teams again set sail for Fittsburgh, where the Robins will resume their Western tour.

The Pirates had the laugh on the Robins until the second half of the seventh, and then it was Brooklyo's turn to smile. Burleigh Grimes was hit in spots and he yielded a run in the third and again in the seventh. Carlson, of the Pirates, was likewise hit rather hard, but Brooklyo sould not get scoring until the seventh. In that session they tied the score, while in the eighth they knocked Carlson off the mound and Hy Myers won the game with a base-cleaning triple. John Morrison relieved Carlson and hits off the that session they kiecked Carison off the mound and Hy Myers won the game with a base-cleaning triple. John Morrison relieved Carlson and hits off the rescuer brought in four runs.

Grimes was in fairly good form, but his periodic wildness put him in many tight places. It was in the pinches that Burleigh was at his best, for in the second, with the bases filed, he fanned Carlson and Maranville and under the same conditions in the uinth he struck out pinch hitter Rohwer.

Mitchell Has Perfect Day
Carlson also did well with men on the bases until the seventh. In the first four innings the first Robin to bat for barried and munder of the plate.

The Pirates scored in the third on a single by Bigbee, which jumped over Olson's shoulder, and a triple by Barnhart. They made it 2-0 with another a hit to Mitchell, but was forced by Bigbee. Barnhart then walked and Tierney's single scored Bigbee.

That was the end of the Pittaburgh scoring, while the Robins had not yet started to dent the plate. With one out in the seventh, Carey scratched a hit to Mitchell, but was forced by Bigbee. Barnhart then walked and Tierney's single scored Bigbee.

They made it 2-0 with another taily in the seventh, Carey scratched a hit to Mitchell, but was forced by Bigbee. Barnhart then walked and Tierney's single scored Bigbee.

That was the end of the Pittaburgh scoring, while the Robins had not yet started to dent the plate. With one out in the seventh, however, Olson walked, and went to third on Myers's double. Tom Griffith's sacrifice fly to right scored Olson and advanced Hy ke third. Wheat walked and Mitchell are through with his fourth hit. Giants Checked by Ground Rules
The Giants should have scored in the eighth but for the ground rules. With 2 down Young beat out a bunt toward short. Kelly drove a long hit into right center that rolled through Jack Smith and into the crowd. Young was over the plate before the ball had been returned to the infield. But, according to the rules adopted before the game, Young had only the right to advance two bases on such a hit, so he went back to third, Kelly being given a double on the hit. Cunningham then struck out, ending the frame and the Giant hopes.

The Robins made twelve hits to nine for the visitors, and of the twenty-one safeties seven were of the scratch variety. All of Mitchell's hits were clean however, as were Myers's all-important double and triple.

High and Myers made wretched errors in the second, Andy letting one go through his legs and Hy dropping a fly. Myers had the ball in his fins, when it shet out like a geyser and fell to the turf.
